CATHIE ADAMS has been involved in Eagle Forum since the mid-1980s. She currently serves on the national board as 1st Vice President, Editor of the Eagle Forum Report (successor to the Phyllis Schlafly Report) and is the International Issues Chairman (www.eagleforum.org). She served as the President of Texas Eagle Forum from 1993-2015, and was elected Republican National Committeewoman for Texas in 2008 stepping down after being elected Chairman of the Republican Party of Texas from 2009-2010. She was named by Campaigns and Elections magazine’s August 2010 issue as one of the top 50 Republican influencers in Texas.

She has been an election judge, a member of the district, state and national resolutions/platform committees; a delegate to six Republican National Conventions; and especially enjoyed serving on the Republican National Platform Committee in 2000, 2004, and 2008.

Cathie has been an observer of major UN conferences since 1995, and attended the Women’s Conference in Beijing, China; the Housing Summit in Istanbul, Turkey; the Food Summit in Rome, Italy; and a number of Climate Change meetings in Kyoto, Japan; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Bonn, Germany; The Hague, Netherlands; Poznan, Poland; Cancun, Mexico; Durban, South Africa; Doha, Qatar; Warsaw, Poland; Lima, Peru; Paris, France; and Marrakech, Morocco. When the International Criminal Court was created in Rome in 1998, Cathie was there. She also attended the 2000 Millennium Summit in New York City, the Global Taxing Summit in Monterrey, Mexico, and the World Summit on Sustainable Development in Johannesburg, South Africa. She traveled to Hong Kong for a Ministerial Meeting of the World Trade Organization and to Paris, France for a UNESCO meeting.

Cathie has been involved in civic activities as well. She was a member of the Dallas Human Services Commission and has testified before the State Board of Education as well as several legislative committees in Austin, Texas. The news media frequently calls her for the “conservative” side of their reporting.

She is a full-time volunteer, has been married to Dr. Homer Adams for 48 years and they have five grandchildren.

ALYSSA AHLGREN was born in Chicago, IL and raised in northern Wisconsin. Her mother is an immigrant from Croatia and a small business owner, and her father is a most God-fearing man. She was raised to believe in the inherent value of freedom, faith, virtue, and personal responsibility.

Alyssa was a collegiate hockey player at University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire and graduated with a Bachelor’s in Business Administration. She believes in our unalienable rights that are protected under the greatest political document known to man, the United States Constitution, and is committed to fighting for this document and for our American values.

BARBARA ANDERSON holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Spanish from the University of Minnesota and is a former high school teacher. She is a research analyst and writer for the Minnesota Family Council focusing on the area of sex education and the homosexual agenda having spent twenty years researching sex education curricula. She is a Mentor Mom for Mothers of Preschoolers (MOPS). She and her husband, George, have two children and three grandchildren.

STEPHANIE BELL, PHD. was first elected to the Alabama State Board of Education in 1994 and has been re-elected to seven consecutive terms. She is the longest serving board member and has twice served as the board’s Vice President.

Vernadette Broyles, Esq., is the President and General Counsel of Child & Parental Rights Campaign, Inc., a non-partisan not-for-profit public interest law firm founded to defend parents’ rights to shield their children against the harms of gender identity ideology. Vernadette is an experienced family law litigator and Guardian Ad Litem representing the best interests of children in court, and has been an advocate for student privacy, parental rights, and Title IX protections in public school.

Dr. Erin Brewer developed gender dysphoria in first grade. She did everything she could to be a boy. She wasn’t a tomboy in her mind, she was a boy. Her mother eventually sent her to a therapist, and she was able to manage her feelings of gender dysphoria. Erin shares her deeply personal story to help others understand the damage that is being done to our children by the transgender movement.

Erin grew up in Salt Lake City and earned a B.S. from Hampshire College in Amherst, Massachusetts. She has a Doctorate in Instructional Technology and Learning Science from Utah State University.

Vernadette graduated with Honors from Yale University with a bachelor of science in Biology, and received her law degree from Harvard Law School. She has practiced as a commercial litigator and served as an Assistant District Attorney with the Fulton County, Georgia, District Attorney’s Office. Prior to law school, she worked in neuro-pharmaceutical research.

She served for five years on the State Board of the Georgia Department of Human Services, where she co-chaired the Department of Family and Children Services Committee and gained many insights into state child protective services. She was appointed by the George W. Bush Administration to serve on Advisory Boards to the U.S. Department of Justice Violence Against Women program and the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention program, and as a Public Interest Director with the Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta.

Vernadette has been featured as a columnist with The Atlanta Journal-Constitution. She and her husband (also an attorney) live in Johns Creek, Georgia, and have two children.

Margaret Clarke, J.D. serves as a Board Member and the General Counsel of Eagle Forum of Alabama. She is a graduate of Florida Law School and Reformed Theological Seminary. She has served as General Counsel for the Florida Department of HRS and the Alabama Policy Institute in Birmingham, AL. She previously organized the National School Choice Roundtable and the Alabama Scholarship Fund which in time gave support to legislation for the Alabama school choice tax credit. A resident of Birmingham, Margaret is married to Chuck and has been a homeschooling mother of three.

Monica Cline is a former family planning training manager and volunteer educator for Planned Parenthood. She holds a B.A. in Psychology and a Minor in Educational Psychology from the University of Texas at Austin. She is a Certified Building Family Connections Instructor, Medical Institute for Sexual Health; a Sexual Risk Avoidance Specialist (SRAS), Ascend; and a Master of Ministry in Christian Counseling (currently working towards completion of this degree).

Monica’s HIV prevention, comprehensive sex education (CSE) and Title X training lasted over a decade. During this time, Monica thrived as an accomplished consultant, trainer and public speaker. However, she came to learn from her mentors that serving the marginalized meant “meeting them where they’re at,” and leaving them there. This philosophy, her experience in the community, and her own personal story prompted Monica to question comprehensive sex education and crisis pregnancy counseling. Her questions were not welcomed by her superiors, and she was told that if she wasn’t pro-choice, then she didn’t belong there.

Today, Monica boldly exposes the truth behind comprehensive sex education and the harm it causes to our children, families and community. She is the founder and executive director of It Takes a Family, whose goal is to encourage parents to take on their God-given role as the primary educators for their children. She accomplishes this by equipping families with the resources and skills necessary to strengthen family trust and confidence. Monica’s belief is that It Takes a Family to raise strong children, build healthy communities, and form a great nation.

Seton Hall University awarded her an honorary doctorate in humane letters in 2014. During the Reagan administration, she was speechwriter to Secretary of State George Shultz, and a special assistant to Ambassador Jeane J. Kirkpatrick at the United Nations.
Karen England is the Executive Director of Capitol Resource Institute, a non-profit organization that provides education and advocacy for family values. She has led its work in the California state legislature and at local government levels for 11 years. CRI is the oldest and largest pro-family public policy organization in California.

Her public policy involvement began with combating anti-family policies at the local and state levels, as she saw their impact on her own family. After this, Karen began volunteering with Concerned Women for America, and became the Legislative Liaison for Eagle Forum. In her position at CRI, Karen has been described as “a point person for conservatives.” Legislators and others seek out Karen for her incisive and consistently pro-family analysis of current legislation. As the creator of “Day at the Capitol,” Karen brings regular citizens into the legislative and advocacy process. She directs the City on the Hill Youth Leadership Conference. Where each summer, students become mock legislators for the week, receive hands-on training in grassroots organization, learn about their Christian heritage, and more. During the academic year, Karen conducts seminars on civic involvement at public and private high schools.

Karen serves her state and nation in a range of capacities. She was appointed spokeswoman for California’s Prop 73 campaign in 2005. For the last several years, she has served on the Board of Directors for the California Republican Assembly, the oldest Republican grassroots organization in this state. The media regularly feature Karen in print, radio, and television coverage of family issues. She has represented family values in outlets including FOX News, The O’Reilly Factor, The Laura Ingram Show, the San Francisco Chronicle, WorldNetDaily, and others. Her writing has appeared on the FlashReport, California’s version of the Drudge Report, and elsewhere.

Karen and her husband, John, reside in Roseville, California.

April Few is the Communications Director for the national non-profit education policy organization, U.S. Parents Involved in Education (USPIE). In this role, she coordinates national calls with PIE chapter presidents across the country, serves as Chair for the USPIE Marketing Committee, and is the organization’s website content manager.

April has been a featured guest for education policy issues on national and local talk radio shows around the country. She is also a sought-after speaker in South Carolina where she presents the problems with the workforce development model of education and she recently testified in front of the South Carolina House Education K-12 Subcommittee.

April is featured as the protagonist in the documentary, Truth and Lies in American Education, scheduled for release in the fall of 2020. The trailer for the documentary will be unveiled for the first time during EPC 31, 2020.

April is also a certified Sexual Risk Avoidance (SRA) Specialist and is passionate about helping South Carolina youth avoid risky behavior to achieve optimal health outcomes.

April lives in Camden, S.C., with her husband and 4-year-old daughter. They are expecting a second daughter and plan to homeschool their children.

Becky Gerritson is the Executive Director of Alabama Eagle Forum. She began her journey in conservative grassroots politics when she and her husband founded the Wetumpka TEA Party in 2009, which quickly grew to be the largest and most active TEA Party in Alabama. She served as President until January 2019.

Becky’s passion has led her to work with and serve in leadership roles with other conservative organizations. She has served as the Alabama State coordinator for Foundation for Liberty and American Greatness (FLAG) and also the National Grassroots Coordinator for Grassroots for Victory USA. In that role she helped to unite conservative grassroots groups across the country via their “Let’s Put ‘US’ Back in USA” national tour. She has been an active member of the Stop Common Core Task Force in Alabama and was a state leader for ParentalRights.org. In 2012, she traveled the country as a media correspondent with Big Voices Media and has run for U.S. Congress in Alabama’s Second District.

Becky’s high-powered energy and activism has been lauded by national conservative figures including Rush Limbaugh, Sarah Palin, Glenn Beck, Fox Business’ Stuart Varney and others. She’s a frequent guest on FOX News and FOX Business and multiple conservative talk radio programs across the country.
Becky’s desire for freedom is fueled by her faith in God and love for her family. She has been married to her best friend, Eric for almost 27-years; they have one daughter, Shelley, and two grandchildren.

Tim Goeglein is the vice president for External and Government Relations at Focus on the Family in Washington, D.C. He served in high-level government posts for two decades, including press secretary for former Senator Dan Coats of Indiana, special assistant to President George W. Bush, and deputy director of the White House Office of Public Liaison. In addition, Goeglein served as a communications director for Gary Bauer at the Campaign for Working Families.

Along with Craig Osten, Goeglein has authored American Restoration: How Faith, Family, and Personal Sacrifice Can Heal Our Nation. They make the case that an American restoration is not only possible, but probable—if we act now. The key is for Christians to engage with the culture, not flee from it, to be the salt and light that will renew it from within. In this clear-eyed but hopeful guide to restoration, Goeglein and Osten explain how patriotic Americans, with God’s help, can renew fifteen critical components of our culture.

Goeglein and his wife, Jenny, reside in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area and have two sons.

A graduate of the University of London and Corvinus University, Budapest, he was Kokkalis Fellow at Harvard’s John F. Kennedy School of Government and holds a Ph.D. in political science.

Since September 11, 2001, he has been heavily involved in the training and education of counterterrorism, special forces and law enforcement officers. Dr. Gorka has published in excess of 140 monographs, book chapters and articles, and appears regularly in the international press, to include the BBC, CBS, FOX, CNN, CBN, REUTERS, The Washington TIMEs, Al Jazeera, and Alhurra. Dr. Gorka advises and briefs at the highest levels to U.S. Special Operations Command and NATO. He is a frequent lecturer at institutions such as the FBI Academy, the John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center and School, Fort Bragg, and is lead instructor for U.S. Special Operations Command’s Combating Terrorism course.

Dr. Gorka has briefed the CIA, the DIA, the U.S. Navy Seals, the Commandant of the Marine Corps, served as an expert for the DoJ during the Boston Bombing trial, and testified before Congress on the threat of Global Jihadism. He remains a guest instructor at the John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center and School, at Fort Bragg, the home of the Green Berets.

Gorka writes for The Hill and has written Why We Fight ... Defeating America’s Enemies with No Apologies. Before launching his new SALEM show, “AMERICA FIRST with Sebastian Gorka,” he was an advisor to candidate Donald J. Trump and served on the staff of the White House in 2017 as Deputy Assistant to the President for Strategy.

Dr. Mary Grabar was born in Slovenia when it was still part of the Communist Yugoslavia and grew up in Rochester, New York. She earned her Ph.D. in English from the University of Georgia in 2002 and taught at a number of colleges and universities in Georgia until 2013.

While teaching, she wrote widely on political, cultural, and educational topics, and founded the Dissident Prof Education Project, a nonprofit reform initiative.

She is a resident fellow at the Alexander Hamilton Institute for the Study of Western Civilization and the founder of the Dissident Prof Education Project. She taught at the college level for twenty years, most recently at Emory University, and her work has been published by The Federalist, Townhall, FrontPage Magazine, City Journal, American Greatness, and Academic Questions.

Howard Zinn’s, A People’s History of the United States, has sold more than 2.5 million copies. It is pushed by Hollywood celebrities, defended by university professors, and assigned in high school and college classrooms to teach students that American history is nothing more than a litany of oppression, slavery, and exploitation. Zinn’s history is popular, but it is also massively wrong. Scholar Mary Grabar exposes just how wrong in her stunning new book Debunking Howard Zinn: Exposing the Fake History That Turned a Generation against America.

Magnani’s Office, and an internship in U.S. Senator Edward M. Kennedy’s Education Committee office.

Colleen has been involved in the publication of articles pertaining to legal and policy issues related to women in the workplace, the sexual exploitation of children, homosexual marriage, adoption and the Federal Rules of Evidence. She co-authored an article entitled “The Rise and Fall of Women’s Rights: Have Sexuality and Reproductive Freedom Forfeited Victory?” which was published in the Winter 2000 edition of William and Mary’s Journal of Women and the Law.

Colleen currently resides in Vienna, Virginia.

Donna Rice Hughes

Is President and CEO of Enough Is Enough® (EIE); an internationally known Internet safety expert; author; speaker; and film producer. Since 1994, she has been a pioneering leader on the frontlines of U.S. efforts to make the Internet safer for children and families by implementing a three-pronged strategy of the public, the technology industry and legal community sharing the responsibility to protect children online. This strategy has been adopted by industry and governments worldwide.

Under her leadership, EIE created the Internet Safety 101 Program with U.S. Department Of Justice. She developed and spearheaded the “National Safe Wi-Fi” Campaign calling on Corporate America to filter porn and child pornography on public Wi-Fi. Hughes also spearheaded EIE’s bi-partisan Children’s Internet Safety Presidential Pledge (2016) which was signed by then Candidate Trump, and supported by Hillary Clinton; The Governor’s Pledge led by S.C. Governor McMaster and the State Attorneys General Pledge co-led by AG Wilson (SC) and AG Racine (DC) are being rolled out nationally in 2020. She also received a Senate appointment to serve on the Child Online Protection Act Commission.
Dr. Paul Kengor is the Senior Director and Chief Academic Fellow for The Center for Vision & Values and Professor of Political Science at Grove City College. He holds a Ph.D., University of Pittsburgh, an M.A., The American University and a B.A., University of Pittsburgh.

Kengor is a visiting fellow at the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace at Stanford University, and is affiliated with The Center for Strategic and International Studies, The Heritage Foundation, The Allegheny Institute for Public Policy, and the editorial board of Presidential Studies Quarterly, the flagship academic publication on the presidency.

He is an internationally recognized authority on several subjects, particularly Ronald Reagan, the Cold War and communism and is nationally known for work on the American presidency. He is one of a select group of 58 presidential scholars to participate in C-SPAN’s prestigious, highly regarded ranking of American presidents in 2009, a follow up to C-SPAN's popular 2000 survey.

He has authored over a dozen books, most recently, The Divine Plan: John Paul II, Ronald Reagan, and the Dramatic End of the Cold War with Robert Orlando.

Kengor says of himself that he was a terrible student in high school who barely graduated and probably should not have. He turned his life around quite dramatically once he became intensely interested in medicine in college — after having been barely accepted to a community college — and then (more importantly) once he became a Christian.

Michael Knowles hosts The Michael Knowles Show at the Daily Wire. In 2017, he wrote the #1 national bestselling treatise Reasons To Vote For Democrats: A Comprehensive Guide, which President Donald Trump hailed as “a great book for your reading enjoyment.”

Before blank book fame, Michael studied History and Italian Literature at Yale University, graduating with honors. At Yale, Michael rendered the first-ever translation for the English stage of political philosopher Niccolò Machiavelli’s play The Girl From Andros, which Machiavelli scholar Angelo Capodivacca hailed as “a watershed event for the English-speaking world.”

Michael appears regularly on Fox & Friends, EWTN News Nightly, and OANN Tipping Point, among other television news programs. David Limbaugh, brother of radio talk-show host Rush Limbaugh, is an expert in law and politics who writes engaging columns from a fresh, conservative point of view.

A native of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, he attended Southeast Missouri State University from 1971 to 1972 and the University of Missouri for the next three years, where he graduated cum laude with a political science degree. David Limbaugh received his law degree from the University of Missouri Law School in 1978 and was on the Missouri Law Review. He also served in the National Guard from 1972 to 1978.

After finishing school, Limbaugh taught business law at Southeast Missouri State from 1977 to 1978 and has been practicing law for 20 years.

Since 1993, David Limbaugh has been on the board of trustees of the Southeast Missouri Hospital and is currently on its executive committee. He has also served as a member of the Committee for Research Involving Human Subjects at Southeast Missouri State University.

David and Lisa Limbaugh have two daughters, Christen and Courtney.

Courtney Litvak is the Ambassador for Childproof America, a non-profit organization dedicated to safeguarding families against sex trafficking. She was born in Katy, Texas in 1998 and excelled as one of the youngest varsity swimmers on the highly competitive swim team. She received local and state medals for her freestyle and backstroke races and was being recruited for Division 1 and other college swimming programs.

Courtney fell victim to human trafficking in her upscale suburban community outside Houston, Texas. After being off the grid for several long and painful years, Courtney returned to her family who remained fully committed to supporting Courtney on her journey of recovery. She successfully completed an intensive, residential, faith-based program for survivors where she received the trauma-informed treatment that has helped her overcome her traumatic past. She readily credits the love and grace of Jesus Christ for her physical, emotional and spiritual healing and restoration.

She devotes her work fulltime to Childproof America, and has successfully led peer-to-peer interventions with vulnerable youth who are being pursued by traffickers and collaborates with top legislators to help develop policy in the state of Texas and across the United States.

Courtney embraces a mindset of victory and is fully committed to using her knowledge of human trafficking
Connie Marshner

Kelly Litvak founded Childhood America in 2017 and serves as the Executive Director. She has over ten years of experience as a non-profit leader. She began her career in 2007 when she founded Tools 4 Life Books, an organization serving incarcerated youth. The faith-based Tools 4 Teens book, authored by Mrs. Litvak segued into the Tools 4 Teens Program, supporting youth in detention centers and upon re-entry. Her programs resulted in a sharp decrease in recidivism among her students. She serves on the Advisory Board for the Association for Missing and Exploited Children as their Vice President of Rehabilitation.

In 2016, her daughter was pursued by human traffickers in their suburban community and her family was forever changed. The tragedy forced the family to recognize significant gaps in support services for parents with missing and exploited children, leading to the formation of Childproof America, an organization dedicated to safeguarding families against sex trafficking.

Mrs. Litvak holds a bachelor's degree in Organizational Communications, with a concentration in Psychology from Ohio University. A college internship serving victims of domestic violence first sparked her interest in an at-risk population. Her deep compassion for hurting and vulnerable youth, combined with her own personal experience, are the driving forces behind her fierce call to serve as an advocate for anti-human trafficking.

In 2017 and 2018, Katy Magazine honored her as Top 100 Women of Katy. In December 2017, Katy Magazine named Mrs. Litvak Top 10 Outstanding Katy People of the Year. That following year she was honored as the Top 50 Most Giving Moms in Katy.

Kelly and her college sweetheart, Alan, have called Katy home for nearly 25 years. They have two children, ages 18 and 21.

Connie Marshner is president of Connie Marshner & Associates, a boutique fundraising consulting firm which helps pro-family and pro-life organizations to increase their donations by providing strategic marketing and fundraising services for nonprofit organizations. For twelve years she has been a strategic partner with Dr. Charles Kenny, the transformational thinker and founder of Right Brain People.

She was a pioneer in the conservative movement's education reform initiative as one of the founding staff of The Heritage Foundation in Washington, D.C. In 1973, she was its Education Director when Heritage helped to advise the parent protesting the culturally-destructive textbooks in Kanawha (pron: Kuh-naw-uh) County, West Virginia.

In 1976, she wrote Blackboard Tyranny, one of the first books to make a comprehensive critique of public education. In 1980, she and Phyllis Schlafly were key organizers of the pro-family resistance to Jimmy Carter's White House Conference on Families, for which she received an Eagle Award from Phyllis. During the 1980 Reagan presidential campaign, she was Chair of the Family Policy Advisory Board, and during the first Reagan Administration she chaired the Advisory Panel on Financing Elementary and Secondary Education. She was Executive Vice-President to Paul Weyrich at the Free Congress Foundation, and founder of the Family Protection Report.

Connie became a national spokesman for pro-family issues during the 1980's, being a regular conservative commentator on NPR's “Morning Edition,” and a frequent guest on all the network shows. In 1986, she wrote Decent Exposure: How to Teach Your Children About Sex, and then Can Motherhood Survive? in 1990.

Since 1973, Connie has been married to Dr. William H. Marshner, a founding faculty member of Christendom College in Front Royal, Virginia. They have four children and ten grandchildren. Her current fun in life is becoming fluent in Gaeilge (pron. Gale-guh), the Irish language.

Dr. Wilfred McClay is the G. T. and Libby Blankenship Chair in the History of Liberty at the University of Oklahoma, and the Director of the Center for the History of Liberty. His book The Masterless: Self and Society in Modern America was awarded the Merle Curti Award of the Organization of American Historians for the best book in American intellectual history. Among his other books are A Student's Guide to U.S. History, Religion Returns to the Public Square: Faith and Policy in America, Figures in the Carpet: Finding the Human Person in the American Past, and Why Place Matters: Geography, Identity, and Civic Life in Modern America.

He was appointed in 2002 to membership on the National Council on the Humanities, the advisory board for the National Endowment for the Humanities, and served in that capacity for eleven years. He has been appointed to the U.S. Semiquincentennial Commission, which is planning events for the nation's 250th anniversary in 2026.

He has been the recipient of fellowships from the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, the National Endowment for the Humanities, and the National Academy of Education. He is a graduate of St. John's College (Annapolis) and received his Ph.D. in History from the Johns Hopkins University.

Glyn (Wright) McKay recently accepted the invitation of the Eagle Forum governing board to become one of its eleven members. From 2011 to 2016, she served as the Eagle Forum
Executive Director in the Washington D.C. office. She joins three other former Eagle Forum D.C. Executive Directors as members of the volunteer Board: Susan Hirschmann, Kris Ullman, and Colleen Holcomb. Glyn is also a Field Director for Club for Growth.

She is a second-generation eagle, crediting her passion for serving, defending and preserving the American tradition to the influence of her grandmother, a member of Eagle Forum for over 30 years.

She is a graduate of Baylor University and resides in Arlington, Texas, with her husband, and her two sons.

Carolyn McLarty has been involved with Eagle Forum and Oklahoma Eagle Forum for the past twenty years. She has served on the Eagle Forum National Board of Directors since 2014 and is currently the Secretary of the Board. Her interests are in the political arena and she loves to find candidates that the EFPAC is proud to support.

Carolyn is serving her third term as the Republican National Committeewoman for Oklahoma. She was first elected in May of 2008 and was re-elected in May of 2012, and May of 2016.

Carolyn has served on several RNC Committees including the RNC Executive Committee and was Chairman of the RNC Standing Resolutions Committee for four and a half years. McLarty is also a founder and past Chairman of the Conservative Steering Committee, a Conservative Caucus of the RNC.

She was a Sub-Committee Co-Chair for Families, Education, Health, and Crime at the National Platform Committee of the 2012 and 2016 Republican National Conventions.

Carolyn is a retired veterinarian who practiced for over 30 years. Carolyn began her political activism in the early 90’s with the Woodward County Republican Women’s Club and was the Chairman of the Woodward County Republicans when they became the majority Party in 2000. She has served in many capacities in the Oklahoma GOP and as Chaplin and as Parliamentarian for the Oklahoma Federation of Republican Women.

She and her husband Tom reside in Stillwater, Oklahoma. They have three grown children, all Oklahoma State University graduates and are blessed to have four grandchildren.

Lynn has recently become involved in activism against Drag Queen Story Hours at public libraries and helped to start Ask Moms on Facebook to inform and equip ordinary people everywhere to stand against the sexualization of children.

She worked as a nurse in Neonatal Intensive Care for 28 years. She enjoys reading, writing, painting, knitting, and time with friends and her two cats, Kallie and Lulu.

Michael Medved was born in Philadelphia, but attended public schools in San Diego and Los Angeles before starting Yale at age 16 as a National Merit Scholar. He majored in American History and graduated with honors, before attending Yale Law School, where his classmates included Bill and Hillary Clinton.

Michael is host of The Michael Medved Show, America’s #1 Show on Pop Culture and Politics.

After several years as a campaign speechwriter and political consultant, Michael wrote his first bestseller at age 26—What Really Happened To The Class Of ’65?, his subsequent 12 books include The Shadow Presidents, hailed as the definitive history of White House chiefs of staff; Hollywood Vs. America, a stinging indictment of the entertainment industry; and Right Turns, which tells the story of Michael’s transformation from “punk liberal activist to lovable conservative curmudgeon.” The 10 Big Lies About America and The 5 Big Lies About American Business, confront the most common smears against the United States and its free market system.

The American Miracle: Divine Providence In The Rise Of The Republic, describes a dozen astonishing incidents in which luck, nature or some higher power seemed to intervene on behalf the young United States. In the book, Michael argues that a “pattern of happy accidents” is still a pattern, and sides with the Founders in seeing America as “fortune’s favorite” and “destiny’s darling.” His latest book, God’s Hand on America: Divine Providence in the Modern Era, has been referred to as “a hopeful message for our troubled time.”

Michael’s columns on politics and media appear frequently in USA Today, where he is a member of the Board of Contributors. His work as a film critic, based on short-lived experience as a Hollywood screen writer, featured positions at CNN, Great Britain’s Channel 4 Network, and PBS where he served as co-host of the popular weekly show Sneak Previews. He was also Chief Film Critic of the New York Post for five years before launching his daily radio show in 1996.

Michael has been married for 33 years to clinical psychologist Dr. Diane Medved, a bestselling author in her own right. They live in the Seattle area where they raised their three children.

Leslie Mironuck’s life journey has given him a unique perspective on America. He grew up in Canada, viewing the United States from afar. However, during those years he often visited his American relatives. In 1986, he relocated to the USA, and made St. Louis his home. He has since reconciled his various perspectives of America—as a foreigner, as a frequent visitor, and finally as a permanent resident. His reconciliation process included a self-guided study of American history. By birth, Mr. Mironuck has dual citizenship: U.S. and Canada.

Spending his formative years in Canada, Mr. Mironuck has always had a warm connection with Great Britain and its monarchy. That, coupled with his strong American roots has enabled him to paint a neutral, non-biased image of the historical events that motivated, shaped, and impacted the lives of the Founding Fathers. When his unique perspective is combined with his study of original sourced material, the result is a valuable series for students, educators, and history buffs.

Mr. Mironuck is much more interested in historical accuracy than he is in political correctness.

He is the author of Irreconcilable Differences: Profiles of the Founding Fathers 1750-1776 (The American Patriots’ Series).

Andy Puzder is the former CEO of CKE Restaurants Holdings, Inc. He earned a Juris Doctorate in 1978 from Washington University School of Law in St. Louis, Missouri, where he served as Senior Editor on the Law Review. Puzder has been a commercial trial lawyer in St. Louis, an associate at the law offices of famed St. Louis attorney Morris A. Shenker, and worked with Charles A. Seigel, another renowned St. Louis area trial attorney. During this period, Puzder was involved in a number of high-profile cases.

In addition to practicing law in St. Louis, Puzder authored legislation, which The United States Supreme Court upheld in Webster v. Reproductive Health Services in 1989. Following the Webster decision, Puzder was a founding member of The Common Ground Network for Life and Choice.

Also while in St. Louis, Puzder met Carl N. Karcher, the founder of the Carl’s Jr. quick-service restaurant chain who asked him to move to California as his personal attorney. He is credited with resolving Karcher’s financial dilemma, allowing Karcher to avoid bankruptcy and retain a significant ownership interest in the company he founded, CKE Restaurants. Puzder became president and CEO of Hardee’s Food Systems and of CKE, and is credited with turning around both the Hardee’s brand and CKE, allowing the company to survive, become financially secure, and return to growth.

He was nominated by President-elect Donald Trump to be the United States Secretary of Labor. However, he withdrew his nomination after it became clear to Republican Senate leaders that they did not have the votes to confirm him in the Senate confirmation.

Puzder is a prolific author on economic and legal issues in periodicals such as The Wall Street Journal, Forbes, Investors’ Business Daily, Real Clear Politics, CNBC, The Hill, and the Orange County Register, and frequently lecturers on economics and politics for various groups and associations as well as at colleges and universities.

Puzder and his wife Dee live in Franklin, Tennessee and have six children and six grandchildren.

Gayle Ruzicka is the president of Utah Eagle Forum and the President of Utah Families. She has played a major role in the battle to protect traditional marriage in Utah. She has served on national boards for homeschool organizations, pro-family organizations and been a leader in the pro-life movement in Utah.

Gayle hosts a radio show and is Utah’s leading spokeswoman for pro-family, conservative causes. She has also served for many years in the Republican Party, as a national, state and county delegate and precinct chair. Gayle is in demand as a speaker at conferences in the U.S. and Canada on homeschool, political and educational issues. She also teaches workshops on rearing and teaching children.

Gayle and her husband, Don, have 12 children and 46 grandchildren, and she homeschooled for over 25 years.

Sarah Huckabee Sanders served as White House Press Secretary for President Donald J. Trump from 2017 to 2019. A trusted confidante of the President, Sarah advised him on everything from press and communications strategy to personnel and policy. For two and a half years, Sarah was at the President’s side, battling with the media, working with lawmakers and CEOs, and accompanying the president on every foreign trip, including dozens of meetings with foreign leaders. Sarah is only the third woman—and the very first mom—to ever hold the job of White House Press Secretary.

Upon her departure from the administration, President Trump described Sarah as “irreplaceable,” a “warrior” and “very special person with extraordinary talents, who has done an incredible job.”

An early supporter of President Trump, Sarah joined the Trump campaign as a senior advisor in February 2016 during the Republican primary, and continued in that role through the President’s defeat of Hillary Clinton, one of the greatest and most unexpected victories in American history.
Sarah has previously worked in leadership roles for U.S. Senators, governors, and presidential campaigns. In Arkansas, Sarah was a senior advisor to Senator Tom Cotton in 2014 when he defeated incumbent Democratic Senator Mark Pryor, and was campaign manager for Senator John Boozman in 2010 when he defeated incumbent Democratic Senator Blanche Lincoln. And in 2007 and 2008, Sarah helped lead her father, former Arkansas Governor Mike Huckabee, to victory in the Iowa Caucuses and seven other states as his National Political Director.

Sarah has been recognized in TIME Magazine’s “40 under 40” as one of the best political operatives of her generation. She is a Fox News contributor, advises major companies and nonprofits, and previously served as campaign manager of the ONE campaign, a global non-profit founded by U2’s Bono to take action to end extreme poverty and preventable disease, particularly in Africa.

Sarah lives in Little Rock, Arkansas, with her husband, Bryan, and their three children, Scarlett, Huck, and George.

Evan Sayet was born in New York City and went to school in Rochester, New York. He would soon move out to Hollywood in order to pursue a career as a stand-up comedian, television writer, and eventually video producer as well. However, post 9-11, he rethought (or more accurately, thought about for the first time) his political and social beliefs. Sayet recognized that he had been acting as a knee-jerk liberal, but was, in reality, a conservative at heart. From that moment, he has dedicated himself to conserving and promoting the values of the America that has given him freedom and allowed him to pursue his life of liberty and happiness.

He has become the nation’s leading conservative, political comedian, an in-demand Master of Ceremony for Republican and conservative events, while at the same time writing the bestselling book, The KinderGarden Eden: How the Modern Liberal Thinks.

He has given numerous lectures on the same subject as his book including one to the Heritage Foundation, to which Andrew Breitbart called the lecture, “One of the five most important conservative speeches ever given.” Another was given to the Conservative Forum, which has been recognized as the definitive explanation as to how and why the mainstream media has gotten, literally every major story of the past six decades not just wrong, but as wrong as wrong can be.

Sayed resides in Los Angeles, California.

Eunie Smith is the president of Eagle Forum. She has served on the Eagle Forum Board since the Board’s inception in 1975 and as First Vice President since 1996 on Phyllis Schlafly’s recommendation.

Eunie is a cum laude graduate of Vanderbilt University where she was Vice-President of the Women’s Student Government Association. As President of Pro-America (1970), she invited Phyllis Schlafly to speak in Birmingham. In 1972, Eunie co-founded Alabama Stop ERA, which she chaired for its 10-year existence. She was a founder of Eagle Forum of Alabama (1976) and is its longest serving President.

Eunie is the widow of former U.S. Congressman Albert Lee Smith, Jr., the mother of three and grandmother of six. She was singularly honored by Phyllis Schlafly in 2014 with the Eagle Forum Homemaker of the Year Award.

Jarrett Stepman a columnist for The Daily Signal, a multimedia publication of The Heritage Foundation, where he writes about how American history informs our present politics. He was a 2018 Lincoln Fellow for the Claremont Institute, and has appeared on Fox News, CNN, and the One America News Network. His columns have been published by The Federalist, The American Mind, RealClearPolitics, and Congressional Quarterly, among many other outlets.

He co-host The Right Side of History podcast. He is also the author of the new book, The War on History: The Conspiracy to Rewrite America’s Past.

Jarret lives in Washington, D.C.

Suzanne Venker is currently a columnist at the Washington Examiner. She’s also a contributor at The Federalist and a former contributor at Fox News. Her 2012 article, “The War on Men,” remains one of Fox News’ most read op-eds in history.

Suzanne’s work has appeared in publications such as TIME, USA Today, Parents and the New York Post and has been featured in The Wall Street Journal, Newsweek, The Atlantic, Forbes, The Huffington Post and London’s Daily Mail.

Her TV credits include Fox & Friends, Stossel, The View, CNN, ABC and more. She has appeared on hundreds of radio programs throughout the country, and her work has been featured on “The Dr. Laura Program,” “The Late Show with Stephen Colbert” and “The Rush Limbaugh Show.” She is a relationship coach and the author of five books on the ways in which our culture undermines love and family. “It is my passion to help women avoid the pain and anguish that comes from following the feminist script.”

Suzanne says we’re masculinizing women to the point where they have little access to their femininity, which is ultimately what attracts men and what allows women to map out a happy, contented life.

We’ve also feminized men, which keeps them from asserting their manhood—which is what women instinctively want. “Men and women think and behave differently for a reason.
Without that understanding, it’s impossible to have a successful relationship.”

Through coaching and speaking engagements, Suzanne helps women and men find peace in their marriages and relationships.

Tabitha Walter is a graduate of Marshall University where she earned a bachelor’s degree in Elementary Education and a master’s in Political Science. During her graduate studies, Tabitha worked with the West Virginia State Legislature in the House Education Committee. Afterward, she worked on disability law with West Virginia Advocates.

Prior to her work with Eagle Forum, she was with Students for Life and Family Research Council where she handled issues of life, sexual risk avoidance, education, anti-human trafficking, and anti-marijuana policies. She continues to work on those issues and even more pro-family initiatives at Eagle Forum.

Julia Warton and her husband, George, formed Warton Consulting, LLC in 2009, working primarily with non-profit organizations as advisors in public relations, marketing, non-profit organizational development, fundraising and event production. Julia has created, planned, organized and directed educational, inspirational, motivational, political and restorative forums and events for groups of 10 to 10,000.

Julia worked directly with Phyllis Schlafly and Eagle Forum in the St. Louis office (1997-2005) in various capacities (radio, administrative, newsletter), and as executive director. Upon her departure, she married and assumed a different role, that of wife and mother. Since her departure in 2005, Julia continued to volunteer and stay engaged with Phyllis, prior to her passing, and since to help Eagle Forum in numerous positions with Christian Leadership Alliance, The Navigators-Glen Eyrie, Missourians Against Human Cloning, and various law firms. She studied business administration and marketing at Colorado Christian University.

Julia and her husband reside in Colorado Springs. They have three married sons, five grandchildren, and two of the cutest Westies, Lady Lily Joy and Sir William Wallace.

Lily Tang Williams was a Chinese lawyer and law assistant professor, who became an American businesswoman and liberty activist.

Born to illiterate working-class parents in China’s western Sichuan province just before the Cultural Revolution, Lily Tang Williams directly witnessed Chairman Mao’s takeover and the horrors his regime inflicted. She grew up experiencing extremely poor living conditions, food rationing, political and social chaos and, of course, Communist indoctrination.

She learned to work hard, persevere, and be grateful for the opportunities she was given. Eventually, she graduated from Fudan University in Shanghai with an undergraduate law degree. After graduation, she was selected to continue as part of the law school faculty, as well as practice corporate law in Shanghai as China began to rebuild its economy.

In 1988, Lily Tang Williams decided to study in the U.S., leaving her position with only $100 in her pocket and $1200 in debt to her American sponsor, a Fulbright professor at the University of Texas at Austin. Though she could not speak English fluently she was determined to achieve success in this country, earning a Master’s degree in Administration and Planning from the School of Social Work at the University of Texas at Austin.

Subsequently, Lily started work for Wyoming Home Health as a medical social worker, and later she worked as an executive for corporations in both Hong Kong and the U.S. Eventually, she went into business for herself, providing consulting services in international business and, with her husband, buying and managing residential real estate properties.

This experience in the American economy contrasted sharply with the Communist indoctrination she endured in China. She became an avid student of Liberty, free market and free enterprise. Lily became a U.S. citizen and for the first time in her life, she voted in 2000. In 2014, Lily ran for Colorado State House District 44. In 2016, Lily was the candidate for U.S. Senate in Colorado.

Today, Lily continues to manage her own business, and relishes the freedom, independence, and prosperity she found in America. She loves her new country and travels frequently throughout the states to share the story of her American Dream, defending the free speech and free enterprise, and promoting civil and economic liberties. She enjoys educating people about the reality of Communism, Socialism, China’s legal system and culture, women’s issues and educational reforms. She is an inspirational speaker to many people and received very positive feedback from her audience.

Kathy Wilmot began her professional career as a certified public school teacher in Nebraska. After spending a few years teaching in rural schools, she began employment with Bethphage Mission (now Mosaic) as a Qualified Mental Retardation Professional (QMRP). Primary responsibilities included evaluation of residential clients, chairing the Interdisciplinary Team, writing Individual Program Plans, and monitoring progress.

After working as Area Director for Mid-Nebraska Mental Retardation Services and Area Director of Bethphage Community Services in Texas, Kathy and her family returned to Nebraska. A change in professions occurred when Kathy was employed with the Kansas Department of Corrections at Norton Correctional Facility, a medium and minimum facility for 850 male offenders. As Staff Development Specialist, Wilmot developed the Orientation, Basic and Annual training for all staff employed at the facility. After serving in that capacity for 11 years, she was employed at the Accreditation Manager for the Stockton and Norton Correctional Facilities. In that capacity, she monitored compliance with federal and state statutes, compliance with Fire, Safety, Health and Environmental regulation and assisted the facility in achieving National Accreditation with the American Correctional Association.

In the late 1980’s, Kathy became concerned about changes she observed in the educational system and placed a call for assistance – and the person who answered was Phyllis Schlafly! Upon Phyllis’ insistence, Kathy attended her first Educational Policy Conference held by Donna Hearne in St. Louis, Missouri, which has led to many years of political involvement, lobbying and speaking.

In an attempt to make a difference for Nebraska’s school children, Wilmot ran for and was elected to the Nebraska State Board of Education where she served two terms. In recent years, Kathy has been lobbying and educating individuals and Legislators on proposed legislation and issues of concern at the state and federal level.

Kathy and her husband Wes reside on a small farm in Nebraska. They enjoy their three children and 10 grandchildren.

Morgan Zegers is the founder of Young Americans Against Socialism (yaas.org), a non-profit organization dedicated to educating and appealing to younger generations about the dangers of socialism.

She is the daughter of U.S. Army Col. Arthur Zegers IV, an Operation Iraqi Freedom veteran.

Zegers has been involved in politics since high school in upstate New York, where she became the youngest-known officer in the state’s Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies’ Auxiliary.

In Memoriam

The Constitutional Coalition wishes to acknowledge the loss of two of our dear friends: Attorney John Tackes and Mick Sanders. Their absence will be felt this year.

We have been blessed by the efforts and wisdom of Attorney John Tackes, who researched legislation for Front Line and our Court Watch feature. He was also an alternate M.C. and all around volunteer during several Educational Policy Conferences.

Mick Sanders recently came onboard to help with our audio visual needs. His experience as a sound technician at Twin Oaks Presbyterian Church enabled him to be a great addition to our staff.

We miss them both very much, but are comforted knowing that they are both sitting in the presence of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanks also to Eagle Forum for their partnership with The Constitutional Coalition for Educational Policy Conference 31 and Eagle Council XLIX.

NAME BADGES MUST BE WORN AT ALL SESSIONS.
