Speaker: Burleigh, Billy – Billy started struggling with gender identity in the 1st grade. He later had many surgeries, changed his legal documents, and presented as a woman for seven years. But, after doing the many things he was told needed to be done to find peace and happiness, to resolve the disconnect between his mind telling him he was a woman and his body telling him he was a man, he realized that he had believed many lies. Billy had more problems at that point, 7 years post transition, than prior to his transition. Since then, Billy has found the cause of his troubles, has resolved the conflict between his mind and body, and has transitioned back to his birth gender. Billy is married to Rachel, has two stepdaughters, and is now Completely Free!

Title: The Truth Set Me Free

Outline:

- My transitory life
- What I learned – what helped me to become Free
- Questions for you to consider

Action Items:

- Questions I had to ask myself, questions that I recommend you ask and seek answers to:
 - What are spiritual battles and are they real?
 - Are all our thoughts our thoughts – can thoughts be given to us? How do we take our thoughts captive?
 - Should we focus on and deny the lies, or is it better to focus on and pronounce the truths? And what is the truth?
 - The four resources that helped me with these questions are:
 - The Bible
 - “Reclaiming Surrendered Ground” by Jim Logan
 - “Victory Over the Darkness” by Neil T. Anderson
 - “The Bondage Breaker” by Neil T. Anderson
- Find out where candidates stand on transitioning children
- Cast your vote and let your voice be heard – children need help to identify and overcome childhood issues; they do not need gender affirming care
