Speaker: Barton, Cheryl – Cheryl Barton was born and raised in Houston, TX, and earned her teaching degree with an emphasis in special education from North Texas State University. She went on to teach special needs students at several state schools in Texas; during this time, Cheryl met her husband, David Barton. They were married in 1978 and lived in Aledo, Texas, where they were involved with the church that David's dad started.

David and Cheryl founded WallBuilders in 1988, after David had written his first book, and they began traveling the country with their three small children, speaking to groups regarding the truth of our nation's Christian beginnings. WallBuilders grew over the years and Cheryl faithfully traveled with David, supporting him while operating WallBuilders' book tables and raising and homeschooling their children.

Since 1988, Cheryl has been a delegate to every Texas Republican State Convention and has attended every Republican National Convention with David since 1996. While she often works behind the scenes, she is a strong proponent for traditional family values, life, limited government, and individual and religious freedom.

Cheryl works to encourage the spouses of elected officials and religious leaders as they fulfill the role and purpose that God has given them. Cheryl has spoken at women's retreats and other events. She also works to support the military in every way possible, as one of her sons and son-in-law are currently active-duty service members.

Cheryl continues to travel with David and serve America through their work together at WallBuilders. Their three children are married, and they have five grandchildren.
