THE ISLAMIC WAR

by MerryLynn Gerstenschlager, the former vice-president and education liaison for Texas Eagle Forum; an 18-year Republican precinct chairman; and 2018 and 2020 member of the Texas Republican State Platform Committee.

The documentary, One Day in America, released on the 21st anniversary of the 9/11 Islamist attack on America misses a crucial fact. The men who had hijacked the four airplanes were Islamists who died in the cause of Allah. In Islam, the 19 hijackers are known as “martyrs.”

Gut-wrenching scenes include airplanes bursting into flames upon crashing into the Twin Towers; people jumping out of windows to their deaths; the huge cloud of debris as the Twin Towers collapsed and people frantically running away from the buildings; poignant stories of brave firefighters climbing stairs for search and rescue, but never returning; and citizens helping victims of flames and falling debris.

Many, when reflecting on the horrors of 9/11 often say, “Never Forget,” but if one never knows that it was Islamic jihadis who attacked America in the name of Allah that day, how will they know what not to forget?

Political correctness and social media censorship have made many people reluctant to speak the truth in fear of being labeled “racists” or “Islamophobes.” Being a Muslim is not a race; people of many different races are Muslims. Islam is a complete way of life, which encompasses political, cultural, and religious doctrines.

The political doctrine of Islam dictates how Islam treats anyone who is not Muslim, described in Islam as a “Kafir.”

While there are many sects of Muslims, ALL Muslims share two beliefs:

1. There is no god but Allah.
2. And Mohammed is his messenger.

It’s extremely important that one always looks to Allah and Mohammed as the authorities on Islam.

Muslims use two resources to learn about Mohammed: the Sira (Mohammed’s biography) and the Hadith (Mohammed’s traditions; what he said and did). The Sira and the Hadith make up the Sunna. For a Muslim to know how to live, he must consult this trilogy — the Koran, the Sira and the Hadith. Also, there is Sharia Law, as documented in Reliance of the Traveler: A Classic Manual of Islamic Sacred Law. It is illegal in Islamic law for a Muslim to teach another Muslim something that is not true about Islam.

The Koran commands that every Muslim is to pattern his life identical to Mohammed’s. There are over 90 verses that state that Mohammed is the perfect Muslim. Did you know that Mohammed married his wife Aisha when she was 6 years old and consummated the marriage when she was 9 years old? He also kept sex slaves. Study Mohammed to learn about Islam.

Islam has a fully developed doctrine and theology that mandate warfare against unbelievers. Islam’s purpose is to wage war until Sharia is imposed on every individual on earth.

There is NO “version” of Islam that does not mandate Muslims to wage war against non-Muslims until Sharia is imposed on every human on earth.

Dr. Bill Warner, founder of the Center for the Study of Political Islam, wrote several short books that make it very easy to understand Islam and Mohammed, the world’s greatest warrior. As Dr. Warner states that today, “no one wages war in the name of Caesar, Alexander the Great, Napoleon or any other military leaders. After 1400 years, Islam is still a powerful force in our world. Mohammed said that one day all of the world would live under his rule of law, the Sharia.” Learn from the CSPI of how Islam is dualistic, having one set of rules for Islamists and a different set of rules for Kafir.

Facts About Islam:

- The word Islam means submit.
- Muslims claim that Islam is the “religion of peace” because they believe that there will be peace when the entire world is governed by Sharia law.
- In Islam, it’s a capital crime, punishable by death, to say anything negative about Mohammed.
- Islam does not have a Golden Rule.
- Muslims who leave Islam are considered apostates and can be killed.
- Turkish President Recep Erdogan has said that “Islam is Islam.”
- You cannot change Islam — that would be apostasy.

The number of jihadi attacks since 9/11 can be found at the Religion of Peace website. Islamic terrorists have committed more than 42,312 deadly terrorist attacks worldwide since 9/11.

Understanding The Threat, founded by former Marine and former FBI agent John Guandolo, is an organization that empowers citizens, police, and local/state officials to identify and dismantle jihadi networks at the local level. The 9/11 attack was not the end of attacks in the U.S. UTT published a detailed list showing how Texas leads the nation in jihadi attacks:

- Total jihadi attacks in the U.S. since 9/11/01: 75

- Total in Texas: 10, leaving 23 dead and 36 wounded.

How does law enforcement know how to identify potential terrorists? Most don’t! The UTT website asks:

- “Did you know the man who was the Islamic Advisor for President Clinton and created the Muslim Chaplain Program for the Department of Defense was a financier for Al Qaeda currently serving 23 years in federal prison? His name is Abdurahman Alamoudi.”
- “Did you know that ISIS Military Commander Gulmurod Khalimov was trained by the United States in weapons and tactics FIVE (5) times between 2003 and 2014? In 2015 he was designated a Specially Designated Global Terrorist and killed in a U.S. airstrike in 2017.”

So how is our government vetting all the immigrants flooding our Southern border? Or all the Afghan refugees who arrived just one year ago when President Biden suddenly closed the U.S. base in Kabul, Afghanistan?

A September 9, 2022 Breitbart.com headline read, “Bombshell DHS Oversight Report: Biden Resettled ‘Not Fully Vetted’ Afghans in U.S. Who May ‘Pose Risk’ to Americans.”

Some excerpts from the article:

“In February, a Department of Defense Inspector General report revealed that Biden’s agencies failed to properly vet Afghans arriving in the United States and that about 50 Afghans were flagged for “significant security concerns” after their resettlement.”

“Most of the unvetted Afghans flagged for possible terrorism ties, the report states, have since disappeared into American communities. The report noted that as of September 17, 2021, only three of 31 Afghans flagged with specific “derogatory information” could be located.”

The Texas Legislature passed SB 797 which requires schools to display signs bearing our national motto, “In God We Trust,” in a “conspicuous place” if donated or purchased for display. Then last August, the Carroll Independent School District Board of Trustees rejected posters offered by a parent. The posters read “In God We Trust” in Arabic. The Board’s reason for rejecting the signs in Arabic was that they already had received enough signs [in English] from another donor.

The Koran, requires all “People of the Book,” (Christians, Jews, and Zoroastrians) to submit to Islam or pay the jizya (a tax) and live as second-class citizens under Allah’s Divine Law. Do we really want a sign, written in Arabic, that reads “In God We Trust” posted in our public schools? Remember, Islam is dualistic: it has one set of rules for Muslims and a different set of rules for Kafir.

As a Christian, my prayer is that ALL will come to know Jesus Christ as their savior and Lord. We MUST be a voice for the voiceless (those trapped in Islam and those killed in the name of jihad) and we must NEVER forget!!

THE SOUTHERN INVASION

by Theresa Hubbard, Eagle Forum National Security Issues Chairman

The Biden Administration's border policy is completely broken, and it appears it has no interest in restoring any type of common-sense law and order. This is nothing short of a dereliction of duty. The Administration and many of our elected leaders, have ignored their constitutional responsibility to protect "We the People," "ensure domestic tranquility," and "promote the general welfare" of its citizens. These lawmakers completely disregard our nation's immigration laws and our safety and security.

Over 5.5 million illegal aliens have made their way into this country in 2021-2022. That number includes one million known "got-aways" that we have no idea who they are, where they are from, or where they went. Statistics show that around 40% of those numbers are coming from countries other than South or Central America. There were 98 known terrorists apprehended in 2022 alone. Reports show numerous unaccompanied alien children flowing into our country at great risk to their safety and security. The Mexican cartels and China are colluding to make and distribute fentanyl and other lethal drugs.

Illegally entering the United States is expensive. If coming from overseas, the cost is around $50,000. If coming from the South or Central American countries, the costs can be $9,000 to $15,000. For the cartels, the human trafficking business is very lucrative, estimated at $10-20 billion a year.

Once the journey toward the U.S. border commences, it is a combination of hiking through treacherous jungles, crossing rivers, harsh deserts, and bus travel. Many are robbed and beaten and 1 in 3 females are raped by the Coyotes who have been paid to get them to the border. If anyone is wounded or too slow and cannot keep up, they are left behind.

The threat of death is very real with over 825 bodies found on the U.S. side of the border this year alone, with one sheriff estimating that "for every body they find, another 5 to 10 are never recovered."

There is no way to determine how many migrants die trying to get to Mexico. If they make it to Panama, they are bused to Mexico, but as the illegals get closer to the border, the journey is completed by foot with many not knowing where they are and no way to contact family or friends. The Coyotes take their phones so they cannot be tracked. Once they reach the border they are led to densely populated areas near Arizona or to shallow parts of the Rio Grande River near Texas to cross over into the United States. After they reach the States, they wait to interact with local law enforcement and turn themselves in. When they are in the custody of U.S. Customs and Border Patrol, they are processed and released to non-governmental organizations who then transport them further into the country.

Some illegals are military-aged single men who evade capture, known as the "got-aways." If they are not caught, they make their way somewhere into the interior of the U.S. Many (not all) are coming for nefarious reasons. With the capture of 98 known individuals on terrorist watch lists at the border this year, it can be assumed that 100 plus terrorists' wannabes have come into the country alongside the one million or more "got-aways" this year. This is a very concerning national safety/security issue considering it only took 19 terrorists (who were here illegally) on 9/11 to crash four planes, kill 2977 people, and cause billions of dollars' worth of damage to American buildings and businesses in a few hours.

Our national leaders are ignoring the problem and not allowing the CBP personnel to do their jobs in accordance with U.S. law: to apprehend and return these people to their country of origin. It's not complicated: Send them back, let them get in line and come legally.

Not until the governors of Florida and Texas began sending a few thousand illegals to liberal sanctuary cities did the mainstream media pay any attention. The fifty illegal immigrants who were flown to Martha's Vineyard garnered instant national attention. They were put up in a church for two nights and then shipped to a Cape Cod military base, protected by the National Guard.

Yet, the Biden Administration is silent about what the communities along the Southern border are enduring. Thousands of illegals are entering daily, with 160,000 to 200,000 coming across the border monthly. Farmers and ranchers cannot let their children go outside without an adult to play because they never know who will show up on their property. Mothers are arming themselves due to safety concerns.

The mayors of Chicago, New York City, and Washington, D.C. have all complained that the few thousand illegals who have been relocated to these “sanctuary cities” are overwhelming their resources. The mayors are demanding that the federal government provide the funds to cover the costs of supporting or relocating these illegals.

The NGOs are secretly transporting illegals to communities all over the country, in the dark of night without any advanced warning, and no additional resources being provided to the community. The law enforcement officials who are turning these people over to NGO personnel have no idea what organization they are representing. The final destination of illegal immigrants appears to be a clandestine program; they are moved with no way to track or follow up.

Children who come here illegally are called Unaccompanied Alien Children and some are as young as 3 years old. The children are turned over to Department of Health and Human Services and transported to holding areas such as Ft. Bliss in El Paso, TX. The facility is nothing more than an open tent area with children of all ages. It is estimated that some 4,500 UACs are processed through these camps each month. They are then released to a sponsor who may or may not be related.

The HHS treatment of UACs is appalling, according to a review by the Center for Immigration Studies on the Inspector General’s report. The findings showed that there had been “Removal of Safety Measures in the Sponsor Screening Process” where it was reported that “insufficient vetting of sponsors has been a problem” and that “field guidance” was issued that “greatly reduced the information collected by case managers” who were to collect data on the “children’s mental health, social history and... relationships with their potential sponsors.” These actions “created an unacceptable risk” that has not been resolved. Over 20,000 missing illegal children are in the U.S. It is very difficult to track where these children are because the IG’s report said that the HHS online case management system has “usability issues, including crashes, timeouts, and missing data” that make it difficult to search for a UAC’s sponsor.

Why is there a disparity between how the U.S. government (local or national) addresses UACs and American children in need? If an American child is found wandering in the streets, alone, ragged, and hungry, would the local child welfare authorities turn this unaccompanied child over to an improperly vetted sponsor? No. If the child’s parents were found, the child would not be handed over until it was determined that they were in a safe and stable environment. American parents would never be allowed to get away with such dereliction of responsibility regarding the welfare of their children. Why is the U.S. government facilitating this treatment of the UACs?

In addition to the lawless humanitarian crises at the border, there is also an increase in lethal drugs flowing into the country. There were over 100,000 deaths from drug overdoses in the U.S. in 2021, with fentanyl leading the way. China is playing its part by providing the Cartels with the ingredients to make fentanyl. The cartels then produce the fentanyl in their Mexican labs. The uptick in fentanyl coming into this country and its lethality compared to other drugs is beyond anything this country has experienced, because only 2 mg of fentanyl is a lethal dose.

From October 24 to 28, 2022 the CBP, apprehended five drug smugglers and over 150 pounds of fentanyl. On October 25, agents seized 577,000 fentanyl pills at the Arizona border. Three days later, border agents apprehended a “Mexican national carrying a backpack” that “contained...5.56 pounds (2.52kg) of fentanyl pills.” The fentanyl recovered in this one backpack was enough “to kill 1.26 million people.” In four days, enough fentanyl was seized to kill hundreds of millions of people in this country.

The lawlessness and lack of enforcement at the Southern border is a clear case of dereliction of duty by those in charge of our country’s national security. The President, his Press Secretary, the Attorney General, and the Vice President all swear that the border is secure. We know that is not true and every one of them are negligent in making these blatantly false statements to the American people. It is time our elected officials put the American people, their safety, and security first.

DISCLAIMER: This in no way is a reflection upon the men and women of the U.S. Customs and Border Patrol. We know and understand that they are working under duress and doing the best that they can with the resources they have. We pray for you and your families nightly.
