Title: Marijuana and Kratom Hurt Us All!

TAKE ACTION:

- Buy extra copies of “Throwing Children Under the Cannabis” and distribute to friends and family.
- Do not socially accept the use of marijuana. Social pressure works!
- Educate your friends and community. Marijuana is particularly dangerous to mothers and newborns. Marijuana used by fathers doubles the chance of miscarriage. Since THC is stored in body fat and is not water soluble, any use of cannabis within the month and driving is not sober driving.
- Talk to children and young adults about the dangers. Cannabis use can lead to psychosis, schizophrenia, violent behavior, suicide ideation, and other mental illnesses. The younger people are when they start using marijuana, the higher their risk of developing lifetime illnesses.

- Follow science. Marijuana is not medicine and is not FDA-approved. Medicine provides benefits that have been proven through double-blind studies. In medicine, the patient never determines the dosage.
- Demand community standards. Local municipalities have many options to regulate pot shops: location (not near schools or churches), no public consumption, signage and advertising that make marijuana seem fun, hours of operation (no drive-through or all-night sales), cultivation and manufacturing, and odor control. Most municipalities already have regulations on obnoxious odors; get your community to enforce the law with regards to the public nuisance of marijuana.
- Demand that cannabis-related products should only be sold at cannabis stores. Demand clear labeling. Hemp products with THC should not be available at convenience stores and farmers' markets.
- States should set limits on the potency in their legal marijuana. The high-potency THC causes more health problems.
- Be on lookout for new psychedelics with new names. Psychoactive drugs are being peddled as cure-alls without having had the necessary FDA testing. These dangerous drugs are marketed as "safe" alternatives to opioids.
 - Kratom (gas station heroin) is not regulated federally, but FDA warns against using. It is illegal in some states, but most states do not regulate kratom. Get your state to regulate or outlaw kratom.
 - Ibogaine is a Schedule I drug, which is marketed as a cure for PTSD.
 - Psilocybin (magic mushrooms) is a Schedule I drug but is legal in some states (Oregon and Colorado).
